To efficiently use the CM Credit on-line system

1. Go to <https://www.planning.org/login/> and log in.
2. Record all NW Section forums you have attended:
  - Search term: NW Section WA Quarterly Forum
  - Specific forums are available at:
    - January 15, 2015: <https://www.planning.org/events/eventmulti/3029592/>
    - April 20, 2015: <https://www.planning.org/events/eventmulti/3030699/>
    - July 16, 2015: <https://www.planning.org/events/eventmulti/3031511/>
    - October 15, 2015: <https://www.planning.org/events/eventmulti/9102885/>
    - April 28, 2016: <https://www.planning.org/events/eventmulti/9102885/>
    - October 20, 2016: <https://www.planning.org/events/eventmulti/9119928/>
    - January 18, 2017: <https://www.planning.org/events/eventmulti/9121864/>
3. May 31, 2017 is the deadline for those working within the 2015-2016 recording years. Count any CM Credits achieved between Jan 1, 2015 and May 31, 2017.
4. If you have not yet met your required 32 CM credits, go to:
<https://www.planning.org/cm/free/> for free on-line CM Credits. I have used this site many times. It includes many useful courses.
  - A lunch break is a perfect time to take one-hour course.
  - Search under:
    - Tuesdays at APA. This series includes dozens of clear and interesting one-hour presentations.
    - Health Impact Assessment, which will renew your planning worldview.
    - Ethics and Legal.
    - Your current work subjects.
5. You are always welcome to call me for help finding good CM Credits.
