Finding Your Way

Open section 1.0 Quick Finder for an outline of the five primary sections of the manual, and click on the section or topic page you're looking for.

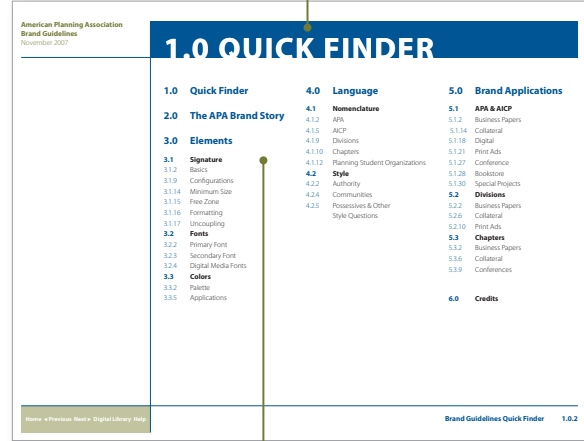

As you click through the Guidelines, the navigation bar at the top displays your current section or topic in bold and allows you to navigate to other content.

Wherever you are in the Guidelines, you can always return to the main 1.0 Quick Finder by clicking "Home" in the menu at the bottom left of the page. Clicking "Help" brings you back to this page.

This Guidelines document will be posted in the Leadership section found under About APA at planning.org. You can view the pdf online as well as download it to view locally on your drive in Adobe Acrobat Reader.

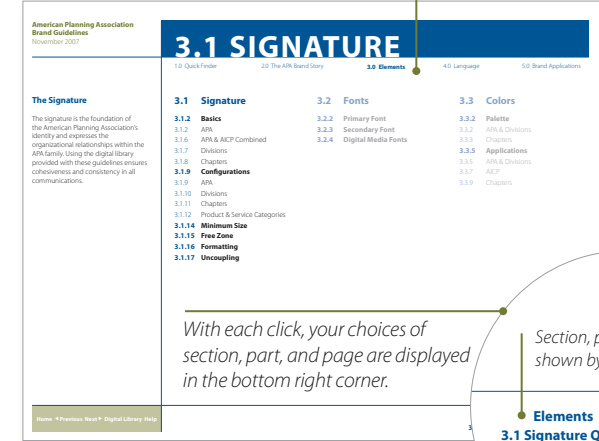

This book has been designed to allow you to print and bind it as needed. The pages are laid out horizontally. Print the pages you need individually or print the whole book and bind it along the top edge (landscape format) using a large wire or plastic binding. Binding on any other edge may cut into the contents.

Main Quick Finder

Current section number and topic.

Section Quick Finder

Using your way back to primary sections using the navigation bar. The current section is always shown in bold.

With each click, your choices of section, part, and page are displayed in the bottom right corner.

In our easy-to-use Quick Finder, click on any section or topic page you're looking for.

Topic Page

Takes you back to the section Quick Finder.

You'll find important details about each section or page topic in the left margin.

This menu provides you with: access to the main Quick Finder from anywhere in the Guidelines; Previous and Next links for easy page turning; a link to the Digital Library; and Help, which brings you back to this page.
